Become a Hero to Your Association

Why Book Us?

If you are either an executive director or a volunteer officer of an association, the task of choosing speakers and topics for an association meeting is a big responsibility. The topic must be appropriate, timely and professional, and this is not always the easiest decision to make.

Today's successful professional is faced with a heavy tax burden as well as an all out assault by trial attorneys. Through our presentation attendees will not only learn how to properly use legal entities to ease the burden of taxes, they will also learn to protect 100% of their personal and professional assets from any lawsuit.

Regardless of your associations practice or business, professionals would like to be able to focus their attention on providing the services for which they have been hired. When everything they do is tainted by the desire to avoid a lawsuit, it lessens their ability to be a true professional.

By the end of our training session attendees will not only have a working knowledge of how and why specific legal entities will work for them, they will also have the ability to get started putting these tools to work.

We are not interested in dazzling your attendees with our knowledge of legalese language, but we are interested in seeing to it that they have a good understanding in every day English how these entities work.

We are faced with a lawsuit crisis in our country today, and congress does not appear to be in any mood to provide a solution. The only way made available to us for relief is to help each individual make the changes that will result in the protection of their assets from both heavy taxes and lawsuits.

Be a hero to your association. Call now to book a speaker.
